

The Essence of Clinical Aromatherapy:

An international seminar for hospital and hospice care

Saturday 25 November 2017

Dear colleagues,

This unique international seminar for aromatherapy in hospital and hospice care brings together researchers, experts and practitioners for a full day of education, networking and inspiration. With the increasing use of essential oils in these settings, this groundbreaking seminar presents the latest work being conducted in these fields as well as offering evidence-based and concrete strategies for enhancing care provision. Leading the practitioner from research into practical applications, participants will enhance their knowledge and skills through learning from experts who are specialised in the clinical domain.

There will also be ample time to discuss points of interest and to network with peers as well as connect directly with companies who supply essential oils and related products.

As part of the seminar, your attendance pack includes transcripts of the speakers' presentations as well as a certificate of attendance for your continuing professional development.

I look forward to welcoming you to this exceptional event.

Seminar Aims:

- demonstrate the multiple roles of essential oils for enhancing care and providing comfort at different stages of disease and for all age groups
- update and extend participants' knowledge and skills regarding working safely and effectively with essential oils for sick and fragile patients
- provide the opportunity to network with peers from around the United Kingdom and beyond
- present new and innovative aromatherapy-related techniques for enhancing care
- facilitate access to key resources concerning aromatherapy, essential oils and related products.

Target Audience:

This seminar is highly relevant for all aromatherapists and other healthcare professionals who are using essential oils in hospital, hospice or other settings such as elderly or residential care. It is also suitable for those who are considering integrating aromatherapy into the clinical setting and who wish to gain further insight into the potential roles of essential oils and aromatherapy for supporting and enhancing conventional care.
